The Peritoneal Malignancy Institute in conjunction with the Pelican Cancer Foundation are holding an update on the management of major haemorrhage at Norton Park Hotel near Winchester.

This one-day symposium will bring together international experts in point of care coagulation testing, liver transplantation, haematology, obstetrics, cardiac surgery, trauma and major abdominal surgery to explore the current evidence and future developments in the care of patients with major haemorrhage in different clinical settings.

The aim of the symposium is to give delegates an understanding of the latest concepts in the field through a series of lectures and interactive case presentations and to share cross-discipline learning from these often challenging clinical situations.

Clinicians and allied health care professionals involved in the care of patients at risk of major haemorrhage are encouraged to join us.
